Welcome to the July 2018 edition of NARIC News

UKNARIC2018 conference online booking goes live: Tim Marshall, bestselling author of 'Prisoners of Geography', is opening keynote speaker

Delegate booking is now live and online for the UKNARIC2018 annual conference at the QEII Centre in Westminster, London, on 7 and 8 November. Tim Marshall, bestselling author of Prisoners of Geography, is confirmed as keynote speaker at our opening plenary session (pictured below, photo: YouTube/BBC).

Tim's latest book, The Age of Walls, with its subtitle How Barriers Between Nations are Changing our World, links to our thresholds and gateways theme for UKNARIC2018: 'Global Gateways – New Thresholds, New Skills, New Times'. Tim's opening keynote will set the scene for the two days of conference.

For UK NARIC member institutions entitled to complimentary delegate places, 'Power Users' or Primary Contacts are being emailed with a promotional code. Entering this on the online booking form will give you your free places. Look out for your email over the next few days. Email conference@naric.org.uk if you need help.

The online booking form can also be used to book paid-for conference places, for members or non-members. Early Bird discounted rates are available until 31 August.

Admissions, Compliance training: London, in October; Glasgow, November

The next dates for our Admissions Officer Training Level 1 and Tier 4 Compliance one day seminar event are 9 October and 10 October in central London (near Russell Square), and on 20 November (Compliance) and 21 November (Admissions Level 1) in central Glasgow at the University of Strathclyde's Technology and Innovation Centre Executive Suite.

Consecutive days allow delegates to attend both sessions if they wish with one overnight stay. A special discount applies if places are booked on both days - a £50 discount (for members or non-members): talk to your account manager or email events@naric.org.uk for details.

UK NARIC hosts high-level Pakistan TVET delegation at Cheltenham headquarters

A delegation from Pakistan visited UK NARIC headquarters at the end of June to discuss ways in which UK NARIC could support TVET developments in the country. The delegation was led by Mr Zulfikar Ahmad Cheema, Executive Director/Chairman of NAVTTC, the national TVET body (pictured above presenting a commemorative plate to UK NARIC CEO, Dr Cloud Bai-Yun).

The delegates were interested to find out more about UK NARIC's role in recognition of international qualifications.

The delegation included Ms Nabila Umer, Director NAVTTC

Confirmation: UK-China AIR programme is fully approved by China Ministry of Education

UK NARIC confirms that the UK-China AIR programme, supporting UK-China university collaboration and which has been promoted in the UK by UK NARIC, is (and has been since its inception) fully approved and endorsed by the China Ministry of Education (official Chinese Government 'red seal' announcements, red header and red footer, pictured above).

Seven UK universities have now signed collaboration agreements with counterparts in China as part of the AIR programme and successful joint working is under way. Of course, this has no adverse effect on their wider activities in

All European NQF level descriptors in one publication: download for free from CEDEFOP

CEDEFOP, the European Centre for the Development of Vocational Training, has published an analysis and overview of NQF level descriptors in European countries that is downloadable as a PDF for free (front cover pictured above).

Detailed and clear tables show level descriptors for the 28 EU countries plus the 11 other countries participating in the European Qualifications Framework (EQF) implementation.

A 40-page introductory section discusses the EQF, notions of competence and alignment, and how level descriptors can
